EIGHT GAMES REMAIN HERE

White Sox Come Monday, and Mackmen May Play Double-Header Next Friday.

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.

Walter Johnson and Stanley Cove-leskie are due to hook up for another bitter battle in the box tomorrow in Cleveland, and reports from the Sixth City say that the park will be crowded its capacity. Coveleskie won here Thursday, but many are willing to back Johnson to defeat him tomorrow.

Both ball clubs will make a flying getaway tonight immediately after the game at Georgia avenue, arriving in Cleveland tomorrow morning. They will again rush to their train tomorrow evening, the Griffs coming back to the Capital and the Indians going to Phila-

Eight more games remain to be played here by the Griffmen before hitting the pike for a month.

Next Monday the Chicago White Sox make their 1918 debut at Georgia avenue in the first of a four-game series.

After the Sox come the Philadelphia Athletics, who have a postponed contest to play off. This double-header will probably be booked for Friday, May 28. The White Sox seem to be having their troubles, and the Griffmen may be able to gain a bit at their expense, but the Mackmen will be no easy marks.

Bill Piercy, a pitcher from Los Angeles, has been released to Salt Lake City by Bill Donovan, the Yanka' boss. He is but nineteen years old and needs Ban Johnson saw it. Ban sat in the stand and saw the Indians actually outclass the Griffmen and win, 7 to 1. Maybe Ban's a hoodoo. But come to think of it. Ban's presence hadn't a thing to do with it. Those Indians had the hame boys beaten at the beginning.

Guy Morton pitched the whole game for Fohl's team. measuring up higher than either Boehling or Shaw. George Damont, though, coming when all was lost in the fifth frame, classed up with the Clevelander. But Dumont couldn't make hits in pinches or cover second base or show speed on the paths. He couldn't be the other eight men on his team.

Boehling's pass to Roth in the second become a run because the outfielder ad-old-time style, scoring both runners and reaching third himself on the throw,

The big blow-up happened along in the fifth and gave reason for some wag later to have Announcer E. Lawe Phillips call for the coroner.

O'Neill was hit by a pitched ball, and Jim Shaw relieved the southpaw, Morton relied to Foster, whose peg to second was perfect. But nobody covered the corner, Morgan going down behind flist and McBride standing without hitching. That out O'Neill on third.

Graney's single to right scored the catcher and put Morton on third.

Turner's pass filled the bases. McBride seized Speaker's roller and got Morton at the plate. Henry shooting the pill to Judge in time to double up "Spoke." However—pause for execrations—Ump Chill called him safe and Judge let the ball fly right back to Henry who nailed the sliding Graney for a double play, anyway.

Roth spoiled things with a single to Jim Shaw relieved the southpaw. Morright, scoring Turner and putting Speaker on third. Gandil singled and Howard waited and waiked, ending the day's work for Jim Shaw. Dumont came in, passed Wamby and then forced O'Neill to raise a weak fly to Foster, ending the inning: Four runs had been chalked up by the gentlemen of the press box.

When Morton decided to ease up in the ninth, the Griffs got a run over, but no medals are being handed to them on that account. Judge walked and Shanks singled to left. Ed Gharrity hammered a hearty one to center, and was then promptly doubled up by McBride, Judge scoring. Rippy Williams closed the exhibition with a fine fanning stunt.

The finest fielding feature of the day was Henri Rondeau's one-handed catch of Speaker's fly in the ninth right up against the scoreboard. Rondeau's speed was excellent on that play, his judgment perfect, and his reward a storm of applause.

Coveleskie Goes Distance Against Cullop and Shawkey.

NEW YORK, May 20 .- Harry Coveleskie, supported beautifully by Vitt, Bush, and Young twirled a sixteen-inning tie game against the Yankees here yesterday, the final score being 2 to 2 when darkness ended the fighting.

Nick Cullop's will throw allowed two runs in the opening inning, but his pitching for the first eight innings was excellent. Shawkey duplicated this per-formance in the last eight. Coveleskie did not allow a hit for seven innings after the Yanks tied the score in the ninth. Score by innings:

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER. it's a bit strange, you may find lots of fans who hesitate before saying that the Mackmen won't be in the flag hunt next season.

Connie needs pitchers more than anything else. He has the hitters and the fielders and the runners, but he needs the pitchers who can go through whole games. He is getting them, too.

There is no better workman in the American Leasue today than Joe Bush, and Bush has been living up to his reputation all spring.

To assist Bush there are Myers. Crowell, and Nabors. All three rookies have pitched good ball this year, Myers having the best record of the trio.

But the point of the assument is Two months ago the country was laughing at the Mackmen. Today the Mackmen, hopelessly left at the post, have managed to crawl out of the cellar into sixth Only those who have been with steady losers know just how hard it is to come up from nowhere to Myers having the best record of the trio.

But the point of the argument is that Connie, bersft of those stars who brought league championshins and world's titles to Shibe Park, has gathered a representative big league ball club in two years.

No, there are no laughs today at the expense of the Mackmen.
